The public is invited Tuesday to the inauguration of Mayor Billy McDonald and the Pass Christian Board of Aldermen.

The ceremonies are scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. at City Hall, 200 W. Scenic Drive, with the oath of office being administered by City Court Judge Frank P. Wittmann III.

McDonald will be beginning his second consecutive term, and will have two new aldermen on the five-member governing board. Republic Howard McKissack will be serving his first term as Ward 1 Alderman, and Democrat Joseph Piernas is replacing longtime Alderman Margaret Jean Kalif in the Ward 2 seat.

A funding bill making its way to the U.S. Senate includes $10 million for the purchase of Cat Island.

U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran said the Senate Appropriations Committee this week approved a funding bill for the U.S. Department of Interior and U.S. Forest Service that includes over $32 million for projects in Mississippi.

The appropriations bill, if it survives a vote in the full Senate, represents a major victory for U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor, who has led the fight to purchase Cat Island and add it to the barrier islands that comprise the Gulf Islands National Seashore.

Hancock County becomes 'mosquito central'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Once again, the pilots of Mosquito Control, Inc. are flying double shifts, both morning and evening, to rid our area of those pesky little insects.

Entomologist and General Manager Wayne Machado quoted a colleague as saying that in a 25-year career, this was the worst outbreak he had seen.

"What we are seeing right now are the results of Tropical Storm Allison and we are receiving reports which repeat the pattern we are seeing, all along the storm's path," said Machado.

As in the past, Machado said, the main concentration of mosquitoes are the salt marsh (Aedes sollicitans) variety.

But a more dangerous variety, the Asian Tiger (Aedes albopictus) is being found in the area in smaller numbers, he said. What is scary about the Asian Tiger is that they can pass diseases like encephalitis on through eggs that they lay, Machado said. And they are basically your "backyard" mosquito because they require a container to breed in.

"A lot of this type will lay their eggs in a hole in a tree, but a boat with a little water in it, an old tire, a bucket, or any container with an inch or two of water, especially in a shaded area, is home to this variety," said Machado.

"It is still a little early to see the encephalitis virus... none of the mosquitoes tested have shown any signs of it yet," he said. "The main season for the virus is July through early September, but the disease can show up as early as May and as late as October... right now our main concern is annoyance."

As strange as it may seem, the drought conditions of the last two or three years are the main reason that we have such a high concentration of the insects, he said. "The salt marsh mosquito can only lay its eggs in a dry area," said Machado. So the mosquito has had a lot of time and area to build up a supply of eggs. Then when the rain came and flooded long dry areas, a virtual army of insects was hatched "almost instantaneously," Machado said. A continuing cycle of several days of dry weather, followed by some rain, continues the cycle.

Mosquitoes, even the water breeders, usually stay away from large bodies of water or any moving water, so the insects are most likely not coming from the canals, Machado said. Emptying containers around your house does help with the control of the Asian Tiger.

A concern to many people is the new variety of mosquito born virus seen in the New York area last year, the West Nile Virus. "There is no indication so far of the virus being found any further south than North Carolina at the present time," said Machado. "But it is not a question of whether the virus will arrive in our area, but more a question of when."

Many mosquito-borne diseases are a result of a cycle between the mosquitoes and migrating birds, said Machado. The virus comes with the birds that have been bitten by infected mosquitoes, then area mosquitoes bite the birds and continue the cycle. Occasionally other host animals, such as horses or humans become involved in the cycle, but it is rare, he said. Though it sounds like a disease might be easily transmitted, that's not really the case, Machado said, because of the life cycle of a virus. It is only in the contagious stage for a short time, he said.

Fireworks, fishing, fellowship highlight Coast Fourth of July celebration

Fourth of July on Mississippi's Gulf Coast promises to bring a variety of entertainment options and several days of fireworks, fishing, fellowship and fun.

The celebration began with the Mississippi Gulf Coast Fishing Rodeo, June 29 at the Gulfport harbor. Held annually over the Fourth of July weekend, the event is in its 53rd year and one of the region's largest fishing rodeos.

Contestants fish the Gulf waters for five days, competing for cash and prizes in 30 categories of both saltwater and freshwater fish. In previous years, records for tuna, shark and flounder have been broken at the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

"Many people have never seen so many different types of fish in one location," said Chuck Dedeaux, rodeo president.

"The fish display that we keep on ice each day is real impressive, but so is our fireworks display. Everyone comes down on the Fourth to see the final day of the rodeo and then they stay to watch the fireworks at night."

Look for a complete schedule of Fourth of July events on Pages
6-7A.

Registration for the tournament is free and open to the public. From 9 a.m. to midnight now through July 4, spectators are invited to Rice Pavilion at the Gulfport harbor to view the fish displays, enjoy live entertainment and refreshments and enter the cast net and hula hop contests.

For information call 863-2713 or visit www.fishrodeo.com.

The 17th annual Bay St. Louis Crab Festival held June 29 - July 1 on the grounds of Our Lady of the Gulf is another Coastal Fourth of July tradition. The Crab Festival features three days of specialty food, live music, raffles, a $15,000 draw-down, arts and crafts and children's activities.

"It's the best food that you can get anywhere," said Pam Metzler, event chair. "The gumbo, the crawfish etouffee, the crab and shrimp biscuits, it's all made fresh at the festival by our parishioners. Crab Fest is a great family affair with fun for adults and fun children, plus it's a great kickoff for the Fourth of July week."

Fireworks displays start at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis at 9 p.m. on Tuesday, July 3 and continue at 9 p.m. on July 4 in Gulfport, Ocean Springs, and Biloxi. I Love America, a musical tribute to Fourth of July, sponsored by Cedar Lake Assembly, will be performed prior to the fireworks in Biloxi.

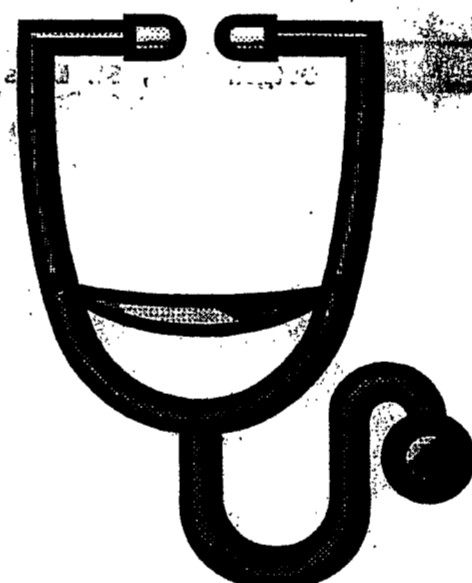

"People who are at the town green to watch I Love America can just turn their chairs around to see the fireworks," said Roxanne Cole of Cedar Lake Assembly. "This is such a great patriotic production honoring our country and our military."

I Love America will also be performed July 3 at 7 p.m. Admission is free both nights.

"Fourth of July is a great time to visit Mississippi's Gulf Coast," said Steve Richer, executive director of Mississippi's Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

The talk around town for the past week has been about the possibility of the New Orleans Saints moving to Hancock County. This talk has cropped up before and never really amounted to anything.

A couple of weeks ago I was at the Mississippi Press Association's annual meeting in Tunica and was asked then if there was a validity of the Saints coming to Hancock County. My reply was that Hancock County was being used as a leverage by the Saints' owner, Tom Benson.

I still feel the same way, but one must remember, I and a lot of other folks thought a casino in Hancock County would never have some 600 to 800 employees as promoters were telling us some 10 years ago. Boy, were we wrong.

As long as the New Orleans Saints are around, I really feel they will remain in New Orleans or an adjacent Louisiana location.

I guess anything is possible, but I feel the Saints coming to Hancock County would almost be like the White House moving here from Washington D.C.

It is not too late to partake of the holiday weekend activities today, and for the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo there are still four days left.

The 17th annual Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival is from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. today on the church's grounds, Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

All types of good seafoods, shrimp po-boys, live entertainment, games for all ages, etc., are on tap at the OLG Crab Fest.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church's 75th Annual Fair is also underway today from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. There will be delicious fried seafood, boiled shrimp and crabs, barbecued ribs, chicken, entertainment and much more.

The Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo runs through Wednesday, July 4, and has entertainment, fish displays and lots of fun activities.

At 9 p.m. Wednesday there will be a major fireworks display at the fishing rodeo located at U.S. Highway 90 and 49, Gulfport.

I hope that each and every one of you will have a safe and joyful holiday.

I was saddened to read on Thursday about the death of a lifelong family friend, William Horace Ruhr.

I can well remember during World War II when Horace's mother rode with my mother to work at the garment factory in Gulfport where they made military uniforms.

I recall also when his parents received word that he was wounded in action and received a Purple Heart for his gallantry.

Horace was one, to my knowledge, who never talked about his war experiences.

I can recall the times after the war when we would rabbit hunt across the street from his house in the woods behind the late Mayor Garfield Ladner's home on Railroad (Central) Avenue.

At times we would fish and shrimp from the seawall by the culvert between Nicholson and Coleman Avenue.

Like his father before him, Horace was elected alderman of his Ward in Waveland.

I will miss Horace, especially at American Legion functions where he was very active in the Post and previously served as Commander of Post 139.

To his brother Alvah and his many nephews and nieces, Horace will long be remembered by many of us.

Mississippi can become a leading player in nation's forestry industry

BY LT. GOV. AMY TUCK

Economic development is the engine that makes Mississippi go. Recruitment of brand-name corporations is important. Expansion of existing businesses is a priority.

And economic development based on what we do best just makes sense.

Recently, I was pleased to welcome the start of a five-month process to see more from our forests than the trees. A new, 17-member task force will take a hard look at Mississippi's forestry industry and make bold recommendations for its expanded economic development.

This study group was created by the 2001 Legislature, and we are fortunate to have the leadership as co-chairmen of two experienced individuals - Rollin Turnage of Jackson, long-time executive of Southern Lumber Co., and Dr. Sam Foster, new executive director of the Forest & Wildlife Center at Mississippi State University.

I believe this group's work will mark a significant moment in the history of Mississippi forestry.

And I believe our tremendous forest resources and our abundant land are primed for forestry to reach its full potential.

The obvious question is this: How do we make it happen?

In 1998, Mississippi forestry was an $11.4-billion industry. It accounted for almost 130,000 jobs - that's 10% of all jobs in Mississippi. The average wage for a forestry job was $25,686 - that's $5,600 greater than the average wage at that time.

The 1998 harvest was worth $1.36 billion. Sixty-two percent of Mississippi's land was in forests. And Mississippi had more tree farms than any other state in the union. Outside of the Mississippi Delta, timber has been among the top three in agricultural crops every year.

Unfortunately, we'd be hard-pressed to give a completely accurate accounting of today's forestry industry and its resources. The experts say little new data is available. This is problem number one. Frankly, no one can do any serious planning without current data.

Another issue for study will be technology. Today's technology wasn't even imagined 10 years ago. How is this technology being used for forestry and how can Mississippi use it?

In the year 2001, we must know how our forest resources are being used. Are we just growing trees with little consideration about whether processors are located nearby? Are we just cutting trees when we feel like it or are we truly managing our resources? Are we using the very latest in science to help us maximize the results?

And are we just shipping our trees out of this state as someone else's raw material? Economic development in forestry will mean that Mississippi plants are making refined consumer products from our trees.

Our task force will be examining the business environment of forestry, while also considering how to minimize any environmental problems associated with expanded forestry enterprises. They will be looking at the implications on labor and the skills a Mississippi labor force will need to be part of a new forestry economy. They will be calling on Mississippi leaders, who already are working in this field.

They will be seeking to gather data and research, as well as listening to business leaders and forestry specialists, who are well attuned to the latest trends and who can offer realistic advice about "the big picture" of forestry in the 21st Century. They will be examining today's success stories around the world to take advantage of others' experiences.

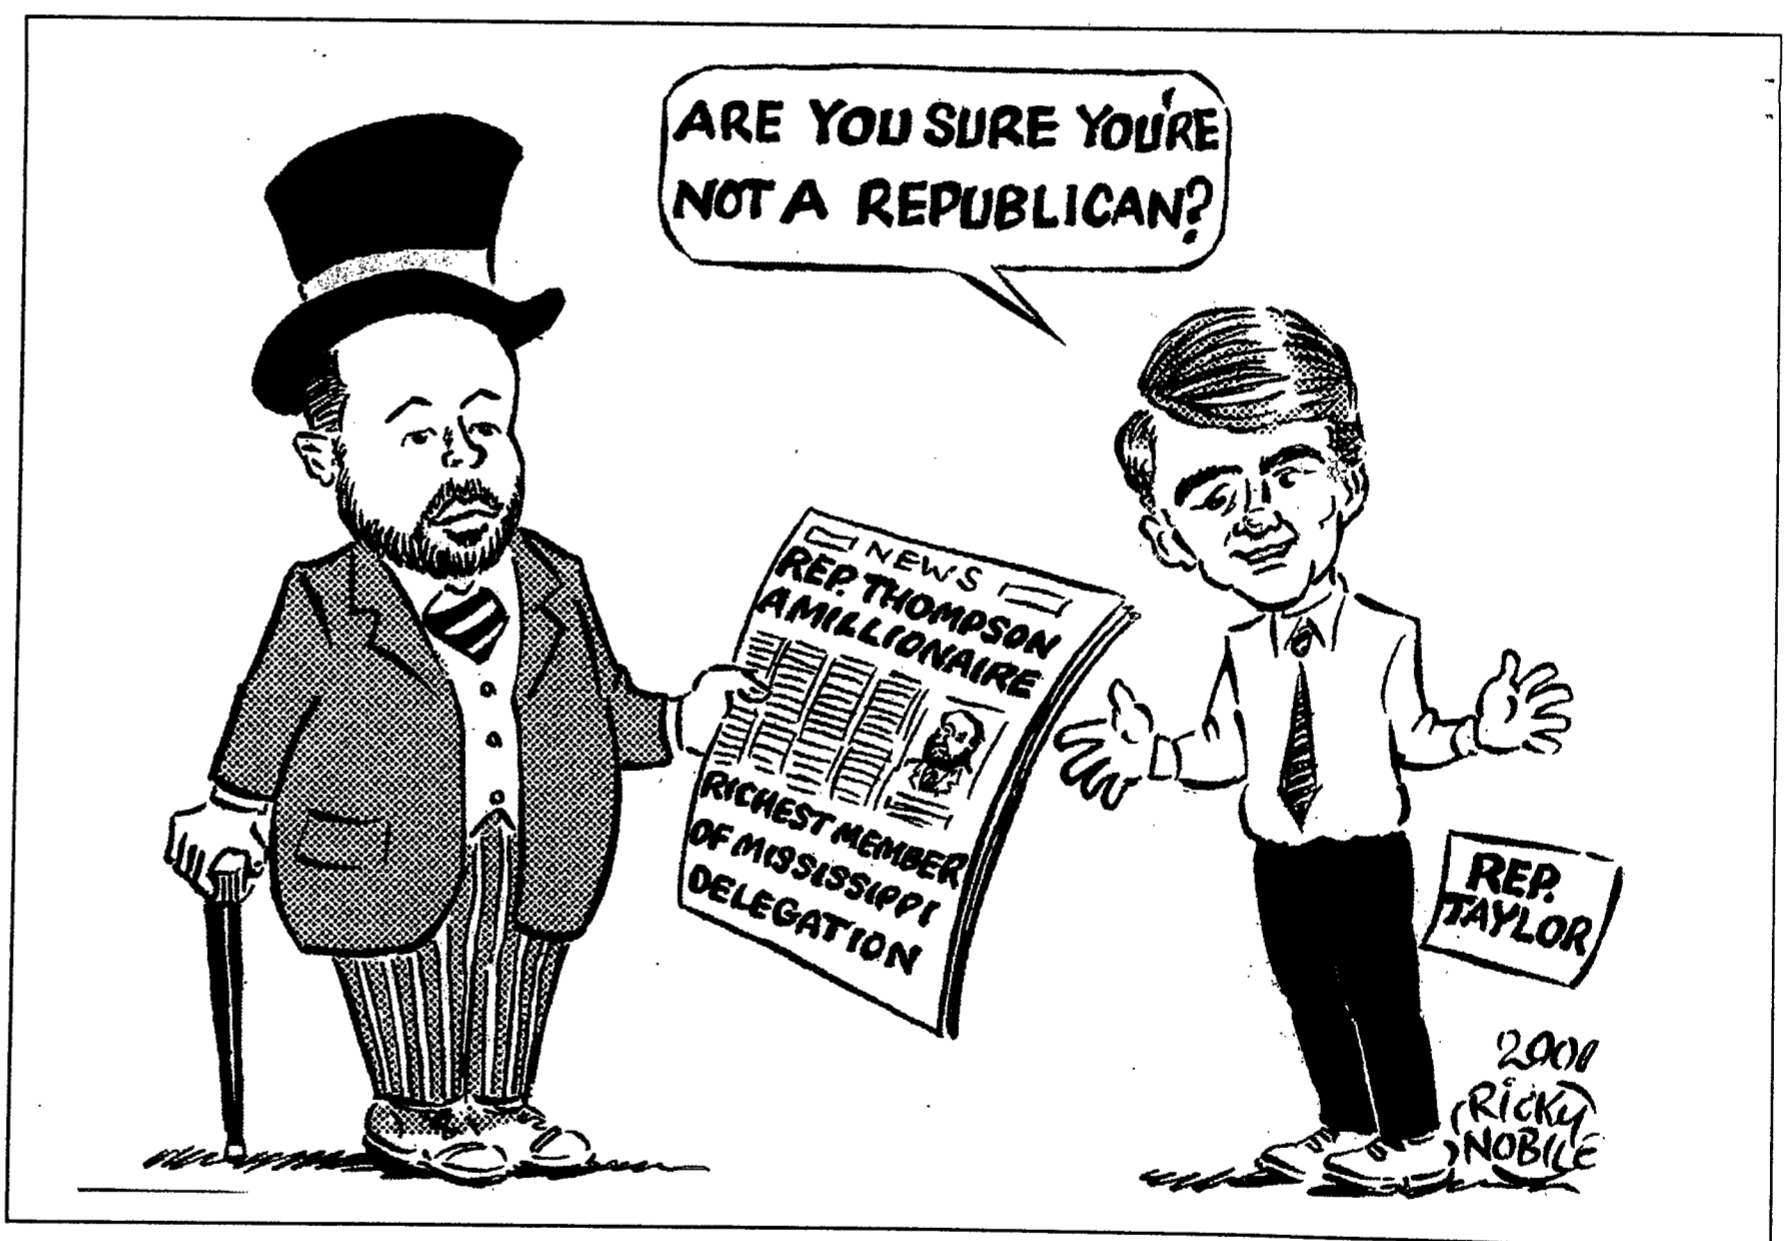

I believe our task force will be presenting some sound, bold recommendations that can take our forest industry to the next level. And they will be asking the questions on behalf of the people of Mississippi, for the future of Mississippi.

A complete examination of our forestry resources and our possibilities will help chart a new approach to this key segment of our state's economic development.

Certainly, expansion of our forestry resources is not an "overnight" enterprise. It will pay off over a period of years. But it will not pay off at all unless we start now. Mississippi can become a leading player in forestry throughout the world.

I believe we have taken a significant step in that direction.

Supreme Court campaigns need complete disclosure

BY ERIC CLARK
Secretary of State

As Chief Justice Ed Pittman recently said in his inaugural address, last year's campaigns for Mississippi's Supreme Court saw an unprecedented display of money and mudslinging that has damaged public confidence in our judicial system.

The nine candidates seeking seats on the Supreme Court reported spending more than $3.2 million last year. Interest groups supporting different candidates also spent huge sums. Big money campaigns in judicial races create the perception that the independence of our courts is in danger.

In 2000, we saw an explosion of "soft money" influence on our judicial elections. "Soft money" is money that is raised and spent in secret to avoid public disclosure and legal limits.

The basis of campaign finance law in Mississippi is disclosure. Two years ago our Legislature passed a strong law with strict reporting requirements. Any contribution of more than $200 must be publicly reported. Of course, all people and groups have the right to support the candidates of their choice. At the same time, every citizen has a right to know where candidates get their money. Voters can make informed decisions when candidates' contributors are reported for everyone to see.

In last year's Supreme Court races, one out-of-state group spent at least $958,000 in "soft money" for TV commercials to elect certain candidates to our state's highest court. This organization filed no reports and made no disclosures of who its contributors were.

This group sued the State of Mississippi in an effort to keep the names of its contributors secret. Their arguments were rejected in federal court, but they have appealed the case. If their lawsuit is ultimately successful, our campaign finance laws could become meaningless. The case may go to the U.S. Supreme Court, whose 1976 Buckley vs. Valeo decision is the basis for those seeking loopholes in our campaign finance law. Their argument is that the commercials do not specifically use "magic words" like "vote for," "elect," "vote against," or "defeat," and therefore don't promote any particular candidate.

I believe that argument is truly silly. A TV commercial that praises a candidate as a new George Washington and talks about what a wonderful judge he would be, but avoids saying "vote for," is still a campaign commercial. A TV ad that slings mud at a candidate and calls him a crook, but does not say "vote against," is still a campaign ad. Such ads clearly advocate the election or defeat of a candidate. The courts should recognize that fact, and require disclosure of the contributors who pay for them.

If one group can keep a million dollars of campaign spending secret, what is to prevent every other group from doing the same thing in our next election? Do we want our next Governor's race secretly financed by contributions that are never reported? Mississippi cannot allow any candidate or group, regardless of political viewpoint, to hide its contributors from the public. We must apply the same standard to everyone and let the voters decide.

Recently some people have suggested that candidates should be limited in how much money they can receive or spend in running for judge-ships. That may be a good idea, but such limits would accomplish nothing if independent groups can raise and spend millions of dollars on TV commercials, without reporting their contributors.

As long as our judges run for office, we cannot prevent money from being spent on campaigns and TV commercials. But disclosure of who contributes is crucial. Mississippi has strong laws in place to bring accountability to electing judges and other officials, if the federal courts will let us enforce those laws. The public has the right to know who is paying the bills.

Previously, Taylor had gotten a commitment from the House Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands for $4 million to begin acquisition of the barrier island.

The island is owned by the Boddie family, which has offered to sell all but 158 acres of the 2,100-acre island described by Taylor as "probably more pristine than the other islands in the Gulf National chain."

The original asking price was around $28 million, but Taylor said he plans to get two land appraisals before making an offer to the Boddie family.

Mississippi Power to come up with plans to provide a uniform lighting pattern for that area of Beach Boulevard stretching from Coleman Avenue in Waveland to the Washington Street pier in Bay St. Louis.

Mickey Compassi with Mississippi Power Co., said the firm will install new lights and upgrade other in place at no charge to the county, if the county pays for any increase in the monthly electricity bill. Currently, the county and two cities share a pro-rata cost of the monthly light bill, but supervisors voted Tuesday to pay for any increase in the monthly bill using Seawall Funds.

According to Kurt Brautigam, Mississippi Power's manager of External Communications, plans call for increasing the number of lights on Beach Boulevard from the present 54 to 73 lights. Brautigam said, at Coward's request, five demonstration lights have already been installed at the Garfield-Ladner Pier in Waveland.

"These are 250-watt, interstate, high-pressure sodium lights," said Brautigam.

"They provide a very direct field that will light up the roadway as well as the walking trail."

Brautigam said the new lights should also improve safety and visibility for motorists.

Plans also call for installing four 400-watt lights to better illuminate the Washington Street parking lot area, and two, 250-watt lights to better light up parking at Coleman Avenue.

He said Mississippi Power would order the lights, and begin installing them as soon as they are received.

Brautigam estimated the lighting improvement project could be in place within two months.

PRCC's dental program receives highest ranking

Pearl River Community College's Dental Hygiene program, on the Forrest County campus in Hattiesburg, recently received some good news.

The performance summary for the National Board Dental Hygiene Examination has ranked the PRCC program 39th nationally out of 231 programs nationwide. This is the program's highest ranking since admitting its first class in the fall of 1992.

"To be rated among the top 17 percent in the country speaks well of our program, and our students, especially when you consider that we are going against many programs that offer a B.S.," said Stanley L. Hill, D.M.D., Program Director. "We've pretty much showed a consistent rise in our rating every year. All of our students have always passed the Mississippi State Clinical Board Examination."

Hill added that the program has had a 99 percent pass rate on the National Board Examination since the program began. "Students have to take the National Board to be licensed," said Hill. "This success rate on the National Board reflects well on our program."

The program also scored above the national average in 11 of 12 subject areas. They include anatomic sciences, phys-biochem-nutrition, microbiology, pathology, pharmacology, patient assessment, radiology, management of dental hygiene care, periodontology, preventive agents and community health.

The PRCC program was accredited by the American Dental Association in 1994. In 1995, the Mississippi Association of Vocational Education selected it as best technical program. It received the Public Education Forum Award for Excellence in 1996 and was recognized by the American Association of Community Colleges as an Exemplary Instructional Program.

Admission to the Dental Hygiene program is selective and competitive. It is limited to 16 freshmen each August, with applications accepted through May 1 of each year. The Dental Hygiene program had 80 applicants for the entering class this fall.

Students earn an Associate in Applied Science degree. It's a four-semester program with the last three semesters devoted to seeing patients in the clinic.

Current faculty includes Gina Kilgore, R.D.H., Instructor; Michele Giles, R.D.H., Instructor, and Hill.

PRCC's Dental Hygiene program offers many services to the public during the school year. They include oral and periodontal exams, radiographs, fluoride treatments, sealants, oral prophylaxis, oral hygiene instructions, and non-surgical periodontal therapy.

Students of the program perform work while supervised by their instructors. The clinic consists of 14 operatories for dental hygiene treatment, three intra-oral radiology operatories and one panoramic machine.

Hill said that the job market for dental hygienists is a good one. "Graduates of our program can make on average $17 to $20 an hour in their first year," said Hill. "As they gain experience, they can make more than $25 an hour."

The Dental Hygiene clinic will begin seeing patients in August. For more information, call 554-5509. PRCC's Forrest County Center is located on U.S. 49 South in Hattiesburg.

Natalie Fields

Fields selected for Governor's School

Natalie R. Fields has been selected to participate in the 2001 session of the Mississippi Governor's School.

The Governor's School is a residential honors program established in 1981 by Governor William F. Winter at Mississippi University for Women.

The school is designed to provide academic, creative, and leadership experiences for a limited number of rising high school juniors and seniors who have demonstrated exceptional ability and achievement in their studies and who show high intellectual, creative, and leadership potential.

Fields is the daughter of Lawrence D. and Betty Fields of Bay St. Louis. She has just completed the 11th grade at Bay High School where she was a member of the French Club, National Honor Society, Bay High Band and Bay High Color Guard.

She was junior class secretary and on the Alpha Honor Roll. Additional community activities include receiving the Girl Scout Gold Award this year.

She plans to pursue computer engineering and communications in her career.

Honored

Maegen Besancon, sixth grade student at St. Clare School in Waveland, was awarded the American Legion Award at the end-of-the-year award ceremony. Besancon is the daughter of Joe and Leslie Besancon of Waveland. She also earned the highest academic average for the year, the President's Award, Alpha Honor Roll for the year and the Coach's Award.

MSU award

Melinda A. Miller of Waveland is Mississippi State University's 2001 Prestigious Young Alumna. The MSU Alumni Association recently honored the 1993 biology/general science graduate who teaches at both Hancock High School and Pearl River Community College. Miller has received several other major citations, including the 1995 National Association of Biology Teachers' New Teacher Achievement Award and a 1998 national Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fellowship. Since 1994, Miller also has served as both president and membership recruitment chairperson for the alumni association's Hancock County chapter.

USM spring Dean's List released

The University of Southern Mississippi Dean's List has been released for the 2001 spring semester.

Dean's List scholars are those with at least a 3.25 grade-point average but less than a 4.0.

St. Paul students score high in math competition

In March, sixth graders at St. Paul Catholic School in Pass Christian took the Alabama-Louisiana-Mississippi Math League Competition Test.

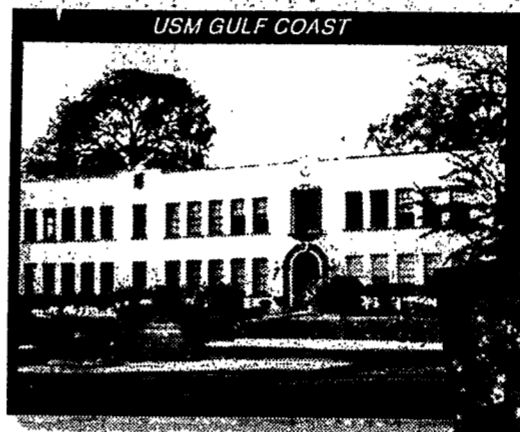

This is an extremely difficult math test requiring the creative combining of several skills at one time to find the solutions to 40 different problems.

The league stated that students obtaining 15 correct answers should be highly commended.

The top five students who had scores all above 15 correct were sent to the tri-state competition headquarters to compete with other schools.

The students scoring above 15 were Anthony LaMarca, Tyler Allen, Lacey Fortenberry, Ryan Hoda, and Alexandra Pharos. They will receive certificates of achievement.

SPORTS

Local prep players in Babe Ruth World Series

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Hancock County will be well represented in the 16-year old Babe Ruth World Series at Herbert Wilson Field/Joe Sam Owen Sports Complex in Gulfport on August 11-18.

Three Bay High players, one from St. Stanislaus, and one from Hancock have made the final cut for the Gulf Coast team.

Aaron Morris, Guy Alleman, and Brandon Strong represent the Bay High Tigers while Dustin Coogan and Zack Zulli don the colors for SSC and Hancock, respectively.

The team is scheduled to play a 6pm game at the Bay High field on July 5. In late July the team will travel to Orlando, Florida for a World Series warm-up tournament before heading back to the Coast for the 16-year old World Series Tournament that starts on August 11.

On June 23-24, the team traveled to Louisiana to play in the Jefferson Parish West Biddy Baseball Tournament. The team finished the tournament with an undefeated record of 4-0. They defeated Jefferson Parish 5-3, Terrebonne Parish West 18-2 and 8-0, and Terrebonne Parish East 14-3.

In the tournament, Bay High's Guy Alleman went 8-for-10 and smacked the tourney's only dinger. In the third game, Bay High's Brandon Strong posted the win on the mound for Gulf Coast and helped his own cause with three RBIs. In the first game, Bay High's Aaron Morris closed the game on the mound and provided strong defense at second base.

SSC's Dustin Coogan and Hancock's Zack Zulli each tallied six hits in the tournament.

The World Series Tournament in Gulfport will have four games each day August 11-18. For tickets, call David Strong at 467-6929, Rod Morris 463-0916, Dwayne Alleman 467-0371, or Cheryl Coogan 467-5515.

Champions

Fire Dogs move kickoff time for remaining home games

The Mississippi Fire Dogs of the National Indoor Football League, NFL, have announced the team has moved kickoff back one hour from 8 p.m. to 7 p.m. for their final two home games and any playoff games.

For information, call the Mississippi Fire Dogs office at 229-388-1876.

FIRE DOGS PLAYOFF TICKETS NOW ON SALE

The Mississippi Fire Dogs have announced that the team has put playoff tickets on sale. The Fire Dogs have the chance to host three playoff games in the Dog House and are offering a special playoff pack.

With the purchase of the three-game playoff pack fans will be assured of having their seat throughout the playoffs, plus the benefit of locking in the regular season ticket price as playoff tickets will increase $1 for the playoffs. (Gen. Adm. $10, Lower Bowl $15, Sideline $25).

For more information, call the Mississippi Fire Dogs office at 228-388-1976.

CAMPERS

These Lady Hawk basketball players from Hancock County Middle School participated in the 2001 Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcat Junior High Basketball Camp June 10-15 on the PRCC campus in Poplarville. Participants were instructed in all facets of the game during the five-day camp, directed by PRCC head women's coach Ed Walley. HMS participants included, front from left, Ashton Ruhr, Shalyn Hoffpaul, Elyse Ramond, Ashley Ladner, Jessica Dubulsson, Sarah Fricke, in back, LeAnn Ladner, Heather Ladner, Meghan Lee, Ariel Bissell, and Summer Seymour. Ruhr and Ashley Ladner received the Top Camper Awards, as selected by the camp staff. (PRCC photo)

GERARD BELL
 Gerard A. "Gerry" Bell, 74, of Long Beach, died Thursday, June 28, 2001, in Gulfport.

Mr. Bell was a native of Washington, DC, was a former resident of New Orleans and a resident of Long Beach for 25 years. He served in the Merchant Marines as 1st Mate during World War II and was self employed prior to his retirement.

Survivors include his wife, Lulla Kulp Bell of Long Beach; daughters J Dagny Bell of New Orleans, Gretchen Drew Bell and Margaretha Bell, both of Long Beach; brothers John Quentin Bell of Long Beach and Christopher Bell of Decatur, Ala.

Visitation was Friday evening at Riemann Funeral Home in Long Beach. Services were conducted Saturday in the funeral home chapel followed by burial in Waveland Cemetery.

MELVIN JOHNSON
 Melvin Marvin Johnson, 74, of Kiln, died Wednesday, June 27, 2001, in Biloxi.

Mr. Johnson was a native of Miami and was an oxygen therapist in health care. He was a Catholic.

Services were conducted Friday at Biloxi National Cemetery directed by McDonald's Funeral Home in Picaune.

R.E. 'EDDY' LACOSTE
 R.E. "Eddy" Lacoste, 75, of Ocean Springs, died Thursday, June 28, 2001, in Ocean Springs, after a five and a half-year battle following two strokes.

Mr. Lacoste, retired from Chevron Pascagoula, worked as a quality assurance engineer after his retirement. He often joked that he could weld anything but the crack of dawn and fix anything but a broken heart.

In his later years, he began to express his artistic talent via metal sculpture, sketches, pen and ink, and oil paintings. His metal sculpture has been displayed in an Ocean Springs art exhibit.

Mr. Lacoste was a long time resident of the MS Gulf Coast, was a Navy veteran of WWII, and was a member of the Mason Lodge 429, Bay St. Louis.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Rufus C. and Rose Lacoste; a brother, Wally Lacoste; and sister Theresa Holley.

Survivors include his wife Frances "Bobbie" Favre Lacoste; two sons, Donald E. Lacoste and wife Cindy of Ocean Springs, and Jeffery Lacoste and wife Barbara of Biloxi; seven brothers, Irving Lacoste, Seymour Lacoste, Marvin Lacoste, David Lacoste, Robert Lacoste, Richard Lacoste and Leonard Lacoste; three sisters, Lenora Redler, Gloria Vigeant and Jeannette Sherlock; and two grandchildren, Jennifer Lacoste and Michael Lacoste, both of Ocean Springs.

Visitation will be today, Sunday, July 1, at Riemann Memorial Funeral Home at 274 Beauvoir Rd., Biloxi, from 1030 a.m. until service time at 2 p.m. in the funeral home chapel.

Burial will follow at Southern Memorial Park and Mausoleum, Biloxi.

The family prefers memorials to Mississippi Grand Lodge Endowment Fund, P.O. Box 1030, Meridian, MS 39302.

MARLENE MOORE
 Marlene Moore, 49, of Pass Christian, died Wednesday, June 27, 2001, in Pass Christian.

Services are pending at Wright Funeral Home in Quitman.

Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport handled local arrangements.

SHANNON A. SIMMS
 Shannon A. Simms, 26, of Kiln, died Saturday, June 30, 2001, at Kiln.

Arrangements are incomplete at Riemann Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

ELIZABETH SWICK
 Elizabeth "Bu" Betty Swick, 71, of Bay St. Louis, died Saturday, June 30, 2001, in Bay St. Louis.

Arrangements are incomplete at the Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

JAMES WATTS JR.
 James William "J.W." Watts, Jr., 93, of Bay St. Louis, died Wednesday, June 27, 2001, in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Watts was a native, born Oct. 25, 1907, and a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis. He was a member of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis where he was a Communicant and past member of the Vestry.

He was a graduate of Bay High School class of 1925. He ran a small on-site mill during the construction of the Pine Hills Resort Hotel in DeLisle. He brought boats down the Mississippi from Chicago for their purchasers. He was a foreman of a dredge barge and an airplane mechanic at Chapman Air Service in New Orleans. He joined Coast Electric Power Association in 1945 and worked there till 1998. He was Operations Superintendent until his partial retirement in 1972.

Mr. Watts began his career with the Association in 1945 working in the engineering department. He was responsible for obtaining line rights-of-way and easements.

In 1948, he was promoted to Operations Superintendent with responsibility for engineering, line construction and maintenance.

In the early 1970s, he was named Safety Coordinator, having the responsibility for OSHA compliance, transportation, two-way radio communications and served as special advisor to the manager.

"Mr. Watts will long be remembered for his uncompromising commitment and concern for his co-workers and Coast Electric," said Robert J. Occhi, general manager. During his more than 50 years of service to Coast Electric, he touched the lives of many employees who will remember his dedication throughout their lives," Occhi said.

In December 1973, Coast Electric recognized Watts for his contributions and years of dedicated service by presenting him with the Outstanding Service Award. He was a Mason for 75 years and Trustee of the Masonic Lodge.

He was a member of the Bay St. Louis School Board, Bay-Waveland Yacht Club where he served as Vice-Commander and Flying and Scot chairman, and the Rotary Club where he received the Paul Harris Fellow Award.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Virginia Chapman

Watts; his parents, James W., Sr. and Gertrude Moon Watts; and a sister, Anna Mae Watts.

Survivors include three sons, James William Watts, III of Houston, Texas, Alfred Chapman Watts of Albuquerque, N.M. and Richard Henry Watts of Duluth, Ga.; a sister, Katie Watts Kramer of Gulfport; and six grandchildren.

Visitation was Saturday at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis followed by services in the church and interment at Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis was in charge of arrangements.

The family prefers memorials to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, TN, or Christ Episcopal Church Building Fund, 912 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

MARION WILLIAMS
 Marion E. "Bill" Williams, 79, of Kiln, died Tuesday, June 26, 2001, in Kiln.

Mr. Williams was born in Stateline, Miss. and had been a resident of the Gulf Coast for more than 50 years. He was retired from Ingalls Shipbuilding and had served in the U.S. Army in World War II. He was a member of Wolf Creek Baptist Church.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Betty Moore Williams; his parents, Daniel and Alma Williams; a son, James "Rusty" Williams; a sister, Burnelle Reynolds; a granddaughter, Christi Monistere; and a son-in-law, Phil Ratcliff.

Survivors include four daughters, Betty Boyington of Stockton, Ala., Linda Herbert of Kiln, Marian Monistere of Hammond, La. and Kathy Cook of Canada; a sister, Mable Morris of Gulfport; 15 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted Friday at Wolf Creek Baptist Church in the Standard community followed by burial in Standard-Sand Hill Cemetery in Hancock County.

Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home in Gulfport was in charge of arrangements.

Chefs of the Coast Fest tantalizes guests with local favorites and specialty cuisine

The 20th annual Chefs of the Coast Food and Wine Festival Sept. 30 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center, will once again tempt guests with its extravaganza of selections from the finest restaurants and chefs on Mississippi's Gulf Coast.

More than 60 participants will indulge guests with savory creations ranging from traditional Coast cuisine to innovative specialties.

Fresh Gulf seafood will also be presented with various influences including Cajun, Creole, Italian, French and Asian. Wine tasting will include samples from more than 40 vineyards.

"Every year Chefs of the Coast outdoes itself," said Devra Dedaux of the Mississippi Restaurant Association, Gulf Coast chapter. "With 2001 being the 20th anniversary, this is definitely the year to attend."

Along with the food and wine tasting, Chefs of the Coast also features a Food As Art competition in which chefs vie to create hors d'oeuvres as visually pleasing as they are delicious. Past winners include chefs from Beau Rivage and Grand Casinos.

"Food As Art is really a fascinating aspect of Chefs of the Coast," Dedaux said. "There is a great deal of suspense and excitement. When chefs are competing they really pull out all the stops. Let's just say they're at their finest."

A silent auction with everything from art to furniture to specialty cookware and live entertainment will also be part of the evening's events. Tickets are $60 in advance and $65 at the door.

"Chefs of the Coast is an Epicurean delight," said Stephen Richer, executive director of Mississippi's Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau.

"In one evening it is possible to sample some of the finest dining found on the Coast. The challenge to be self disciplined at this gourmet occasion is almost impossible with so many stimulating choices."

When they said you were gone I thought life couldn't go on without my brother, protector and friend.

It's been five long years and countless numbers of tears without my brother, protector and friend.

Although I no longer have your strong, loving arms and soothing voice to guide and reassure me, I always feel you right at my side, my brother, protector and friend.

So now I know, as time goes by, you will always be my brother, protector and friend.

You are so very missed by all.

Picayune selected over Stennis as site for Chevron aviation maintenance operations

BY ED LEPOMA

Officials with the Mississippi Development Authority announced that Chevron U.S.A. Production Co. will relocate its aviation maintenance operations currently based at New Orleans Lakefront Airport to the Picayune Municipal Airport in Mississippi.

"We are delighted to welcome Chevron U.S.A. Production Co. to Picayune. This project will boost Mississippi's growth and economic positioning for this area of our state. These kinds of economic opportunities only happen when people work together to make a difference. I commend and thank the various company officials along with our elected officials for making this a reality," said J.C. Burns, executive director, Mississippi Development Authority.

Chevron recently signed a seven-year lease with Magnolia Air I for use of apron space and a new 37,847-square-foot maintenance and office building, to be built by Magnolia Air. Groundbreaking ceremonies were held June 28. Chevron plans to complete the move by the end of March 2002.

Hancock County's Stennis International Airport was in the hunt for the project.

"We started talking with them about two years ago," said Port and Harbor Executive Director Hal Walters. "I think over the course of the two years, we might have had two or three meetings."

Walters said a combination of factors led to the decision to eliminate Stennis from further discussions, although he could not finger the exact reason Stennis was not selected.

"We certainly have the infrastructure in place to accommodate them and other operations like that which want to locate at Stennis," said Walters. "And, we're constantly making more improvements to the runways and taxiways and support facilities."

Walters said he thought Chevron was swayed somewhat by maps furnished by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which suggested in a 500-year flood scenario, the south end of the runway of Stennis might have five of six inches of standing water.

He said another contributing factor might be the airport's proximity to Hancock High and Middle Schools.

"They were going to be bringing in some noisy, turbine propelled helicopters," said Walters. "The schools might have been a problem."

He said, however, he thought the main reason Picayune was chosen was because Steve Sabree, who managed the operations at the New Orleans Lakefront Airport, has a home in Picayune.

Sabree said the move inland to higher ground in Mississippi is intended to eliminate the likelihood that maintenance equipment, spare parts and aircraft would be damaged by flooding, as occurred during Hurricane Georges in 1998.

"The new facility in Picayune will provide us with the confidence and peace of mind that we will be able to provide reliable support to our offshore aircraft operations," said Sabree. "That's especially important during those critical times when we're evacuating offshore employees from the potential threat of a hurricane or tropical storm and during redeployment following a storm."

Chevron currently employs 73 personnel and three contract personnel to perform maintenance and administrative tasks supporting company-owned aircraft used for oil and gas explorations and development operations in the Gulf of Mexico.

Picayune Mayor Woody Spiers said he hoped Chevron is the first of several high-tech clients, who will locate to the airport.

He said Picayune officials have already heard from other companies in aircraft and other technology-related fields interested in the airport since Chevron decided to locate at Picayune.

"These are good paying jobs, and we're glad to get them," said Spiers. "These are highly trained people, and this is a highly specialized field, aircraft maintenance."

SBA to open Gulfport office

BY ED LEPOMA

The U.S. Small Business Administration will open a disaster loan office in Gulfport beginning Monday to assist homeowners, landlords, renters and business owners in Hancock County and other areas recently declared eligible for disaster assistance.

Hancock County Civil Defense Director Lynette Carbon said she has had initial reports of 33 homes damaged from the rains and flooding brought on by Tropical Storm Allison. Just recently, she said her assistant, Kelli Hamilton, received reports from two businesses, which incurred some damage.

Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone Counties were officially declared disaster areas after damage estimates to public buildings, roads and bridges and other facilities topped $5 million. The government facilities are eligible for assistance through the Federal Emergency Management Agency, but local homeowners, renters and small businesses will have to turn to the SBA for relief.

People with little or no insurance will be eligible to apply for low-interest disaster loans made available through the SBA Disaster Assistance Program.

According to SBA Disaster Assistance Director Michael Allen, the SBA offers loans of up to $200,000 to repair disaster-damaged homes. Homeowners and renters are eligible for up to $40,000 to replace personal property.

Allen said loans of up to $1.5 million are also available to businesses and non-profit organizations to repair damage to real estate, machinery and equipment and leasehold improvements.

In addition, Economic Injury Disaster Loans are available for small businesses unable to pay bills and meet expenses while the damage is being addressed.

Allen said physical damage loan applications are due by Aug. 27, and the deadline for economy injury applications is March 26, 2002.

The Gulfport SBA Disaster Loan Office will be located at the Harrison County Courthouse. Enter through the west side, 24th Street, entrance of the courthouse. Go to the main hall and turn left to the First Floor Conference Room.

The office will open Monday beginning at noon and will remain open until 6 p.m. It will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. July 3, closed for the 4th of July holiday, then reopen from July 5 through July 7 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Starting July 9, the office will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays until further notice.

To apply for assistance, call 1/800-434-4243.

Pass Rotary honors two police officers

Two veteran police officers have been selected by the Rotary Club as Pass Christian "Co-Employees of the Year." Assistant Police Chief Thomas Ruspoli and Sergeant/Investigator James H. Stewart Jr. were honored during a luncheon last week at the Pass Christian Yacht Club. Each were given plaques of appreciation for their "dedication and service to the citizens of Pass Christian."

Ruspoli, 55, a native of Pass Christian, came up through the ranks, joining the force as a rookie patrolman in December of 1971. He was promoted to Sergeant/Investigator with the rank of Captain, then assistant police chief.

Ruspoli recalls when he joined the department, there were three people on the force and two patrol cars. "And, we had to furnish our own weapons."

The Pass Christian Police Department has now grown to 19 police officers, two investigators, four full-time and one part-time dispatchers, and 22 vehicles.

Ruspoli and his wife, Rebecca, have three children.

Stewart, also a native of Pass Christian who played football at Pass Christian High School, started out his career in law enforcement as a reserve officer in 1983. He was hired full-time as a patrolman in 1986, and worked patrol for six years before being named an investigator.

Stewart, 41, and his wife, Justine, have a 17-year-old daughter, Shani, and an 11-year-old son, Armond.

Mayor Billy McDonald was among those praising the dedication of Ruspoli and Stewart.

"I feel we're very fortunate to have employees of this caliber working with us in the city of Pass Christian," said McDonald.

"We try to alternate this outstanding employee award each year from the various city departments, and we are fortunate, also, to have many outstanding employees throughout the city."

Board eyes budget, re-signs Gaudin

BY BENNIE

A public hearing held at the recess meeting of the Hancock County School Board last week drew very little response from those in attendance. Former Superintendent Terry Randolph made the only comments at the hearing.

Randolph's main line of questioning concerned pay raises among district employees. Teachers will receive no pay raises in the new budget.

Randolph was concerned that certain groups of employees would be singled out to receive a higher percentage raise than another group. "Did everyone receive across the board raises?" Randolph asked the board.

"We are in the process of realigning the salary scales," said Superintendent Mike Ladner. "There may be some people in certain groups that may get more due to experience."

"The point is not to look at groups but to look at individuals and years of experience," said board President Cheryl Bennett.

"Because of years of experience, the percentage may vary in groups and from group to group," said Business Officer Lynel Neacise.

The board presented a report which showed a 2001/2002 budget of $32,578,003 million, down $865,963 from last year's budget.

A change in the Homestead Exemption law will decrease the net assessed valuation in the district by approximately $3 million, which generates the district approximately $150,000.

The district will also lose an additional $120,000 from the homestead credit increase. Homestead exemption was raised from $60,000 to $75,000.

As a result of growth and industry in the county the report said the school district can hope to generate about $400,000 in additional revenue without a tax increase. $270,000 of that amount would be used to offset the homestead exemption loss. The remaining $130,000 will be used to implement new programs in the district.

About 35 percent of the budget revenue will be generated locally by property taxes.

State funding, based for the most part on ADA (average daily attendance) accounts for about 52 percent of revenue with another 13 percent coming from Federal grant funding for programs such as free or reduced cost lunches and other sources.

About 46 percent of the new budget is earmarked for direct instructional expenses such as teacher salaries.

Another 15 percent will go for support systems and administration such as librarian and counselors salaries. About 8 percent of funds will go towards operations and maintenance such as janitorial services, utilities and property insurance. A further 6.21 percent will be used for buses, bus driver's salaries and related services. Debt services will consume 11.28 percent of this year's budget.

The remainder of the funds will be split for services such as running the cafeteria, construction and renovations and other needs in the district.

The district is expected to serve upwards of 4,300 students in the coming school year, an increase of over 1600 students or 55 percent in the last ten years.

In other business: The board voted unanimously to reinstate Coach Rocky Gaudin as interim coach for the coming football season.

Gaudin's position will be re-evaluated in December, board members said.

Southern Regional working on financing county-wide sewer projects

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The large trucks unloading lines of blue pipe that you may have noticed around town, are in the process of laying out the new 24-inch pipes along the line which will carry waste water from Bay St. Louis directly to the Southern Regional Wastewater Plant in Waveland. The line is a part of the Phase 1 plant expansion already underway.

What is in question is the direction of further phases of the comprehensive county wastewater plan unveiled earlier this year. Some board members are worried about the financing of the remainder of the project. At a workshop last month, a request was made that representatives from other districts come together to discuss their part in the financing of the county wide project.

What board members discovered was that the Southern Regional Wastewater District would basically bear the initial financial responsibility of establishing transmission lines to connect to various collection systems that communities such as Pearlinton, with about 900 households, would construct.

In theory, an expanding customer base would eventually even out monthly service fees in the united district and cover construction costs, said consultant Gary Beard.

In reality, the ins and outs of financing such a massive project may be much more complicated.

Bill Johnson, representing

Pearlington, asked the board to prepare a memorandum of understanding. The memorandum will state basically that Southern Regional will commit to building a transmission line to Pearlinton and treat Pearlinton's waste water, along with estimated dates for finishing the project.

Pearlington needs such a memorandum from Southern Regional before it can go forward with seeking funding for a collection system. But it does not insure that Pearlinton will receive such funding. At the same time, Southern Regional would need to go ahead with plans for the transmission line fairly quickly, because the whole planning and construction process would take about 18 months, said engineer Duke Levy. Johnson said if all goes as planned, Pearlinton would have plans for its collection system in place by the end of the year, and begin construction of the system next June.

Because Pearlinton is considered a low income community, Gulf of Mexico Deputy Director Bryon Griffith said that would make Southern Regional eligible for several federal grants to help bring service to their area. But, Griffith cautioned, the district should not hold the project hostage while waiting for these grants to become a certainty.

At a special meeting in June, several representatives of the Rural Utilities Service and Rural Development Bank gave some hard answers to the district. Program Director Bettye Oliver of the RUS in Jackson told the board that at present, no grant funds are available in the state, though there is plenty of loan money, Oliver said. But it is clear that you need grant funds, she said.

"Now that we have met with you and hear first hand of the tremendous needs in the county, we will do everything we can to make your project a priority," Oliver said. "You will also need to make sure that the right ears in Washington hear about your needs and this will need to be an ongoing effort on your part."

Roger Gilbert, state engineer for Rural Development, suggested that the district go ahead and submit applications for all the remaining phases as soon as possible so that as funds become available, they can be allocated to the appropriate projects.

Robert Windham, Rural Development representative from Hattiesburg, recommended pairing down the projects to fall in the $2 to $3 million range, either by way of more phases, or by breaking each phase into more manageable portions. Windham said projects in this range were more likely to receive funding because they did not represent such a large portion of the agency's yearly allotment of about $40 million.

Oliver said that in August, a pooling system which requires the return of any unused grant funds to the state, could generate additional grant funds. Even if no grant funds become available in August, the district's funding application will be considered in the next fiscal year, which begins in October.

Pass Christian mansion fails to sell at auction

BY ED LEPOMA

Owners of a mansion fronting the Gulf in Pass Christian have rejected a high bid of $700,000 for the five-plus-acre estate.

The property has been available for inspection for weeks, and was put out to auction in June by J.P. King Auction Co., of Gadsden, Ala.

Agent Jeff Hathorn said six people registered to bid on the West Indies-style home, which includes three bedrooms, four baths and three fireplaces. There is also a one-bedroom guest house, a screened pool house, a three-car carport and a three-car detached garage.

Hathorn said owners Fred and Martha Levert had hoped the property would go for around $2 million.

Hathorn said he was disappointed with the bidding. "We always want to get the most money for a house," he said.

J.P. King sold the Scenic Oaks estate in Pass Christian in 1998 for $2.9 million. And, last year, the company handled the $4.9 million auction of Jackson Ridge, a 631-acre stretch of land near the coast in Hancock County.

Hathorn said the company will continue to advertise the property for the Leverts.

Crape
myrtles great for summer

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

Crape myrtles are starting to bloom all over the South, and it's not hard to see why they are the most popular summer flowering tree.

Many gardeners mistakenly think they are native to this area, but Europeans discovered the Southeast Asia natives around 1750 and early settlers brought them to this country.

The crape myrtle is widely planted throughout the South because it flowers during the hot summer months when little else is in flower.

One of my favorite horticulturists has referred to them as the "Lilacs of the South."

For years the choice of variety for crape myrtle was by color, such as pink, lavender or red.

Thanks to the work of the U.S. National Arboretum and Dr. Donald Egolf, that changed. In 1962 work began to breed crape myrtles that were resistant to powdery mildew.

The breeding program began by crossing Lagerstroemia indica with Lagerstroemia fauriei from Japan.

The early hybrids were then backcrossed with the L. indica to obtain larger, more impressive blooms.

The work paid off immensely and today we have a number of outstanding varieties available. Many of the varieties hybridized by the arboretum

Schools-to-careers giving teachers an on-the-job education in a new workplace

BY MARGIE SCHMITT
Contributing Writer

As our economy grows and changes at a rapid pace, schools are faced with the responsibility of preparing our students for today's workforce.

To obtain the necessary knowledge, educators from the Bay-Waveland School District and the Hancock County School District are participating in a Schools-to-Careers initiative known as the Teacher Internship Program. There are sixteen teachers from the county's district that have committed to participate in the program that is coordinated by Tammy Ehrlich, public relations director for Hancock County Schools. In the Bay-Waveland district, 14 educators are involved in the program under the direction of Rusty Dempsey, community relations director. This program was made possible by partnership grants that were awarded to local Mississippi schools through the Fast Forward Mississippi initiative. The goal of this initiative is to create a direct connection between classroom learning and what's happening in Mississippi's workplace. Employers become joint partners with educators in preparing students for college and careers.

In the Teacher Internship Program, educators are brought into the workplace to work with employers and gain a better understanding of the different skills needed to be successful in today's businesses and industries. Employers in our area agree to provide a 10-day internship program which allows educators exposure to all aspects of a business/industry through a variety of experiences and assignments of specific tasks. The educator then takes this knowledge and incorporates it into lessons geared to teach students how academic subjects relate to the world around them.

As a sixth-grade language arts teacher at Bay-Waveland Middle School, I often find it challenging to motivate my students to write. So on a weekly basis, I introduce my students to the newspaper and have them produce a classroom newspaper of their own. When I learned I would be serving my two-week internship at the Sea Coast Echo, I knew I would be able to gain a better insight on the many steps it takes to put a newspaper together which would be beneficial to me in the classroom. I found that it involves a lot of teamwork and cooperation, with each individual sharing responsibilities along the way. In the classroom, students enjoy projects that involve group work and they must learn the importance of cooperation and being responsible for certain tasks. My experience and the skills that I observed are sure to help me create lessons geared toward cooperative learning and teamwork.

I feel that it is important for students to be exposed to newspapers in the classroom. It not only makes them aware of what's going on in the world but also provides an abundance of lessons using academic subjects across the curriculum.

Another teacher from the Bay-Waveland School District involved in the internship program was Carolyn Barbara Keller, a seventh-grade career discovery teacher at Hancock Middle School, at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce offices in Bay St. Louis Thursday during her internship as part of the Schools-to-Careers Initiative in place at both the Hancock and Bay-Waveland school districts.

Sunrise, Sunset, Moonrise and the Green Flash

This morning, I woke Stella before sunup and, wrapping a blanket around each of us, coaxed her to come out with me onto the front porch.

"What are we doing," she yelled, "It's too early to get up! It's cold! It's dark!"

"You'll see, you'll see," I kept telling her.

It was no use explaining anything to her. On Sundays, unless she's wade fishing, she liked to sleep till about 8:00 or 8:30 and it was now 6:55. It was also cold, 43°; and the dew point was 32°. This low dew point indicated a very low humidity, an important factor in enabling us to see what we had gotten up early to view.

Jennie, wagging her tail in anticipation, came out with us. When she saw that all we were going to do was settle in two of the lawn chairs, she lay down beside us with a disgusted grunt.

I directed Stella to look over the water to our east. Conditions were near ideal for what I wanted us to see; there were no clouds. On the horizon, the sun's eminent rising was indicated by a bright aura of light in the clear morning sky.

We were there to watch two things, the rising of the sun and, if luck were with us, an atmospheric sun-related phenomenon called the green flash.

At 07:03, as prompt as one of Mussolini's trains, we saw the sun rise out of the water. It was every bit as spectacular as I expected. First, a little dot of bright, brilliant light that grew rapidly, almost explosively, a bright blob erupting up out of the water forming a big balloon of brilliant flame that grew and grew until the entire globe of the sun broke free of the water.

But no green flash.

Seeing the sun come out of the water is not as common as one might think. Normally, there is a morning haze, mist, or low cloudbank on the horizon that obstructs seeing it rise cleanly out of the water as we did today. Usually when we first see the morning sun, it's already a few degrees in the sky emerging from this haze or bank.

I had gotten up early and gone outside earlier in the week to try my luck on seeing the green flash. The humidity was also low on that day, but the early morning light revealed a faint mist on the horizon.

As the sun disc rose behind this veil, its color was a beautiful rose red that flooded everything with rich color and made the water luminous silver red. It was a lovely scene lasting only a few magical moments. While I didn't see the green flash, I was glad I had a chance to see this particular sunrise.

As an aside, watching the moon rise out of the waters of the Sound is an even rarer event. The nightly cooling of the atmosphere and the resulting dropout of moisture produces a haze that normally hides the rising moon at night as well as it does the rising sun at daybreak. But when you do see the moon rise out of the water, it too is a rather startling sight.

Its first appearance can easily be mistaken for an unusually bright star, then as it grows out of the sea, it is obviously something larger than a star and much brighter. And then you stare amazed as you realize it's the moon.

I've heard stories of fire departments out west being called to go after a fire at some distant farm by callers fooled by the first sudden rich glow of the rising moon. These may have been just tales, but when you see it suddenly emerge from the water at the horizon you can easily see how such stories originated.

Sunsets offer another opportunity to see the green flash. Unfortunately for us, our immediate coastline is oriented to look to the southeast and thus when the sun sets to our west, it does so over land just north of Bayou Caddy and the green flash can't be seen.

This is unfortunate since, from my experience, seeing the evening sun falling directly into the water happens more often than seeing the morning sunrise cleanly out of the water. I believe this is because in the evening, the earth and air are still warm and the atmosphere can retain more moisture.

But if you are blessed with a clear horizon, whether it is sunrise or sunset, at that moment that the sun rises or sets a wonderful thing happens, a momentary atmospheric blaze of brilliant green color called the green flash.

It is a rare phenomenon; things have to be just right. I have seen it only twice in a lifetime of going to sea. This, although as with this morning, I have stood and watched for the phenomenon many times. In

The 'Pace' Files: Efficient watering

BY STAN PACE
Extension Agent

As summer arrives and the mercury starts to rise, efficient and conservative watering of our landscape is very important. Here are a few tips on watering.

If you use an automatic sprinkler system, make sure you have a shut-off device or sensor so that the system will not run if there has been adequate rainfall or if it is raining.

The best time to water is in the mornings (4 a.m.-7 a.m.). Watering during this time of day reduces the amount of evaporation and allows plants to dry out during the day, which cuts down on diseases.

Anytime during the day is acceptable as long as the leaves are dry when the sun goes down. The best watering technique is to water deeply and infrequently.

Watering deeply and infrequently encourages roots to grow deeper and plants to become more drought tolerant. Watering shallowly every day causes roots to stay near the soil surface, and if you are unable to water for a week or so, these roots will dry up and cause the plant to wilt and hasten the death of the plant.

If possible, use a drip irrigation system instead of an overhead sprinkler system. Drip irrigation systems apply water directly to the root zone of the plant and less water is lost to evaporation as with overhead sprinklers.

The bugs are here. Reports of salt marsh caterpillars (wooly bears) eating bean plants to the ground and grasshoppers like the plagues of Egypt and thrips by the multiplied millions are coming in.

Vegetable gardeners, lawn growers, and ornamental admirers should all be scouting their plants for signs of insect damage. Insects are much easier to kill while they are small and young.

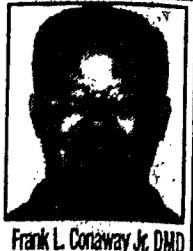

The only method to control an adult grasshopper is two bricks. Contact your local extension office for advice on identifying insects and the proper control methods.

It is okra time. It is hot enough now to be planting okra and eggplant as well as heat tolerant tomato plants for those August harvests. Neither okra nor eggplant have many herbicides that can be used, so plant them in as weed free a location as you can. Don't forget to call our Master Gardener Hotline with any garden or lawn question that you may have. (1-866-Garden8 or 1-866-427-3368)

Toothbrushes

Frank L. Conway Jr. DMD

The origins of the toothbrush date to 3000 BC. The first examples were found in Egyptian tombs. The first toothbrush was actually a "chew stick," a pencil-size twig with one end frayed that was rubbed against the teeth to clean them. They are still used in some parts of the world today: in Africa and even in the United States. In the US, they are called "twig brushes."

These twigs can be just as effective as a toothbrush in cleaning the teeth. Dentists reported one elderly man living near Shreveport, LA, who had used frayed white elm sticks all his life and his teeth were plaque-free and he had healthy gums.

Mrs. George Holder, II.

Holder-Dazzio wed

Jennie Leigh Dazzio of Baton Rouge and George Frederick Holder, II, also of Baton Rouge, were united in marriage June 8, 2001, in an evening ceremony in Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church in Baton Rouge.

The Rev. Miles D. Walsh, STD, officiated. Soloist was Mary Rosenbloom; organist, Louis Wendt; and pianist, Louis Wendt.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. Dazzio, Sr. of Baton Rouge.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George L. Holder of Long Beach.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For the occasion she selected a white raw silk sleeveless gown featuring Alencon lace along the bodice and hemline and a chapel-length train. Her cathedral-length veil was attached with a small band of ceramic flowers. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, white roses and orchids.

Matron of honor was Christy Dazzio Miller, and maid of honor was Noelle Mansour.

Bridesmaids included Elizabeth Stewart Atkinson, Alison Sanford Dazzio, Martha Juneman Dazzio, Kelly Locklar Hufft and Jayme Halbert Vercher.

Flower girls were Alison Elizabeth Dazzio, Anna Katherine LeBlanc Dazzio, Frances Leigh Dazzio and Martha McCullough Dazzio.

Ring bearers were George Warren Dazzio, Peter Thomas Dazzio, III, Christopher Pearce Miller, John Paul Butcher Miller and Luke Thomas Miller.

Best man was Matthew Wesley Holder.

Ushers included Jason Pratt Bourg, Sidney Robards Bowden, Charles Rodman Brumfield, Eric Daniel Coco, Joseph Anthony Dazzio, III and David

Matthew Kerth.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Lyceum Dean Ballroom in Baton Rouge.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted at White Oak Plantation in Baton Rouge.

A bridesmaids luncheon was given June 7 by Mrs. Thomas Butcher and Mrs. Warren Butcher at the Country Club of Louisiana in Baton Rouge.

A champagne dinner and bridesmaids dressing party was hosted in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Pittman in Baton Rouge.

After a wedding trip to Placencia, Belize, the couple will reside in Baton Rouge.

essence, the green flash is a fleeting spot of intense green light seen at the horizon immediately before sunrise or an instant after sunset.

The effect is simply the passing of sunlight through the atmosphere, much as what occurs when we see a rainbow. Sunlight is a collection of colors with each color having a different spectral energy. When sunlight passes through a raindrop, the spectral colors are each bent differently so that when they come out from the raindrop, they form the magnificent spread of colors we call a rainbow. The green flash is very much the same effect.

Each day at sunrise and sunset, sunlight passes through the thickest possible layer of our atmosphere and this bends the sunlight so that we can see its spectral colors just like a rainbow. Only in the case of the sun, this bending of sunlight results in colored arcs of light above and below the sun disk.

Just before sunrise (or after sunset) this forms a bright green glint of light just before the sun's edge rises above (or disappears below) the horizon. The flash itself lasts for about a blink of an eye, but is so brilliant, it dazzles the eye in that micro second.

Because of various atmospheric conditions, the green flash is best seen in Hawaii. When I told Stella this, she said not to wake her up that early again till we were in Hawaii.

Well, perhaps I haven't seen the green flash as much as I would have liked to in my life. But I have seen some wonderful sunrises and sunsets. When you look at it like that, I suppose, it's not too bad.

were given the names of Native American tribes.

The South Mississippi Branch Experiment Station in Poplarville has played an important role in the evaluation process with the U.S. National Arboretum. This work lead to three crape myrtles being chosen as Mississippi Medallion winners over the past five years. These were Natchez, Tonto and Sioux.

The next few weeks will be the time to look for bargains on crape myrtles as well as to see them blooming at the nursery. This allows you to choose the color needed for the landscape.

I prefer those varieties that make it easy for me to do a deadhead-type pruning after the first set of flowers has finished, thereby promoting new growth and another round of blossoms.

In other words, tall selections, though beautiful, are harder to prune. Some of my favorites that are shorter in stature are Zuni (dark lavender and 9 feet), Hopi (medium pink and 7 1/2 feet), Acoma (white and 10 feet), Tonto (Fuchsia-red, 8 feet and a Mississippi Medallion winner), and Pecos (medium pink and 8 feet).

There are a couple of non-Indian types that also have caught my eye for beauty and the fact that they appear not to be plagued by disease.

The first is Catawba that is 10 1/2 feet in height, is covered by dark purple blossoms and has shown good disease resistance.

The second is Near East and it has to be one of the most beautiful crape myrtles in the world. It has been reported to reach more than 16 feet tall. The ones I have been watching are staying shorter.

Regardless, the branches bend over to allow for easy dead heading. The light pink blossoms are borne on huge panicles, giving this crape myrtle extra high marks for elegance.

After planting, it is important to build a saucer or ring around the tree so that it will hold water. This ring can be removed the second year. Then apply a good layer (4 to 5 inches) of mulch like pine bark or pine straw. Watch your moisture during the first year. Supplemental water may be needed to get them established.

I have noticed area crape myrtles being hit hard by powdery mildew. If you love this summer blooming tree, but don't want to start a fungicidal program, consider planting some of the newer disease-resistant varieties.

Careers

websites and a variety of workshops that are free of charge. Jasper also commented that these workshops so readily adapt across the curriculum.

One of the teachers from the Hancock School District involved in the program was Barbara Keller, a seventh-grade career discovery teacher at Hancock Middle School. She was assigned to complete her internship at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. One of her responsibilities at the chamber, she said, included working on a database for all the businesses in Hancock County.

By doing this, Keller said, she was made "more aware of all the businesses we have in our county."

Keller said she plans to bring back to the classroom the knowledge of the many job opportunities that our county has to offer. This will help her students understand that they will be able to stay in Hancock County when they are ready to enter the working world, she said. Also, one of the most important things she learned from her experience was the benefit of observing teamwork in action, she said.

Keller says she will share with her students examples of teamwork that lead to success.

All of the educators involved in this program will probably agree that by experiencing "hands-on", the day-to-day tasks and skills required for running a successful business, we can help our students make a connection in the classroom between academics and future careers.

Msgr. Rodi to be ordained as second Bishop of Biloxi

Installation ceremony takes place Monday at cathedral, broadcast at Gulf Coast Convention Center

The public is invited to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention Center to view the live telecast of the ordination and installation of the Second Bishop of Biloxi, on Monday, July 2.

The Ordination and Installation Mass is set for 3 p.m. at the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary Cathedral.

Following the Mass, the newly ordained Bishop Thomas J. Rodi will join the congregation at the coliseum for a reception.

Due to limited seating at the cathedral, only those with tickets will be admitted to the cathedral. All others may view the Mass at the coliseum. Holy Communion will be distributed to the faithful there, also.

Msgr. Thomas J. Rodi, who has served since 1996 as vicar general and moderator of the curia of the Archdiocese of New Orleans, has been named by Pope John Paul II to become the second bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi.

The announcement was made May 15 in Washington by Archbishop Gabriel Montalvo, apostolic nuncio to the United States.

Bishop-designate Rodi, 52, succeeds the Most Rev. Joseph

Lawson Howze, the founding bishop of Biloxi.

At the time of his retirement, the 77-year-old Bishop Howze was the top-ranking active African-American bishop, having served as a bishop since 1972 and having headed the Biloxi Diocese since 1977.

Rodi's episcopal ordination, during which he will be ordained a bishop of the Catholic Church, and his immediate installation as Bishop of Biloxi, is scheduled for 3 p.m., July 2 in the Cathedral of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Biloxi.

"I am deeply honored and humbled that Pope John Paul II has appointed me the second Bishop of Biloxi," the bishop-designate said. "I pray that I will be able to justify the confidence that has been placed in me," he added.

Thomas John Rodi was born March 27, 1949, in New Orleans. He attended Catholic elementary and secondary schools in his hometown, graduating from De La Salle High School in 1967. He attended Georgetown University in Washington and Tulane University School of Law in New Orleans, where he earned a law degree in 1974.

In 1974, Bishop-designate Rodi entered Notre Dame Seminary where he pursued theological studies and obtained a master's of divinity degree. In 1986, he earned a degree in canon law from The Catholic University of America in Washington.

Ordained to the priesthood on May 20, 1978, Bishop-designate Rodi served from 1978 to 1989 as an assistant pastor and an administrator in several parishes in the New Orleans Archdiocese.

He was director of the archdiocesan office of religious education, 1978-79; executive director for pastoral services, 1989-92; and was appointed chancellor of the archdiocese in 1992.

Named vicar general and moderator of the curia in 1996, Rodi also served in various capacities in the Metropolitan Tribunal of the Archdiocese of New Orleans, including defender of the bond and prosynodal judge.

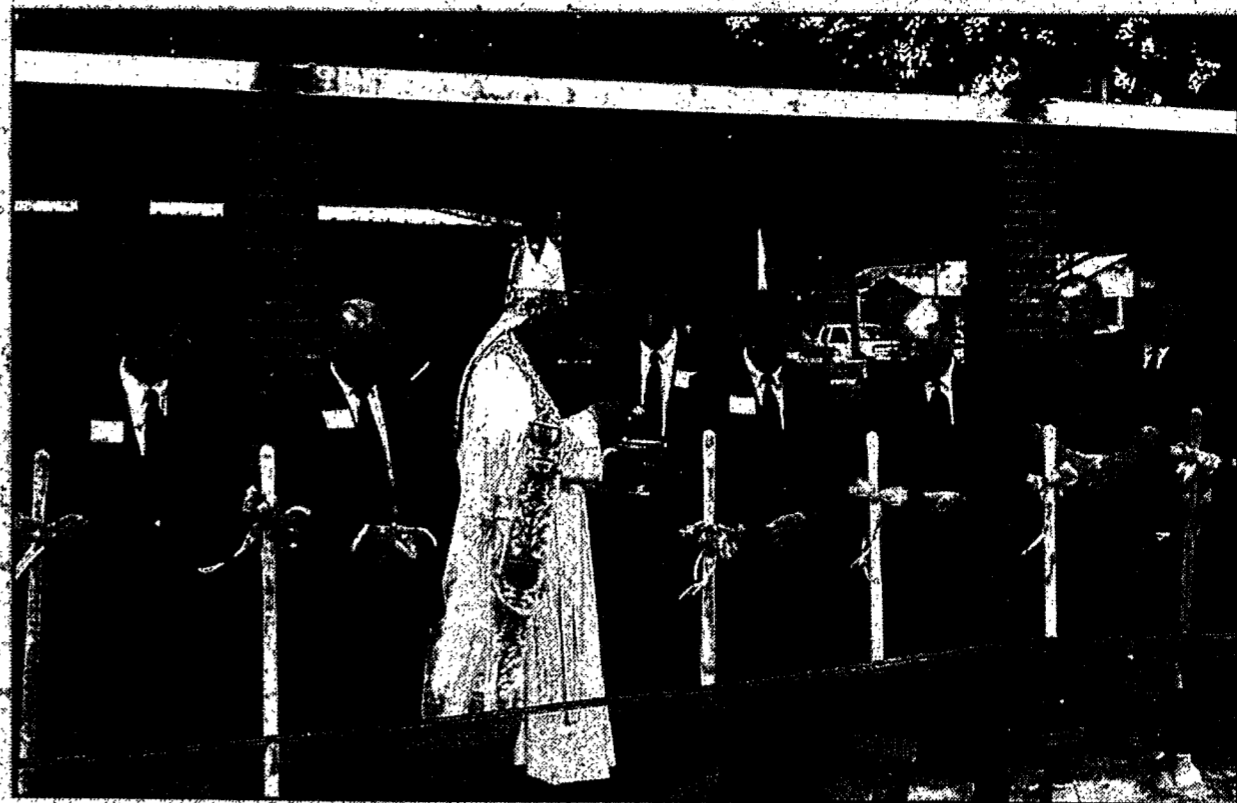

The Diocese of Biloxi, comprised of the 17 southern-most counties in Mississippi, was created March 8, 1977, from the Diocese of Jackson.

Bishop Howze was installed as the first ordinary on June 6, 1977.

The Biloxi diocese has a Catholic population of 69,000 among a total population of 737,000.

The diocese has 41 priests and numerous religious sisters and brothers serving the 45 parishes and 13 mission churches and its 18 schools.

Bishop-designate Rodi has two sisters, Sheba R. Sullivan of Terrytown, La., and Dorothy R. Kightlinger of New Orleans. His parents are the late W. Merrick and Dorothy Kevlin Rodi.

Bishop Joseph Howze at a recent groundbreaking ceremony at St. Stanislaus College.

Howze broke new ground as bishop

Born Aug. 30, 1923, in Daphne, Ala., Lawson Howze took the name Joseph when he converted to Catholicism in 1948.

He graduated from Alabama State University in 1948 and entered the Seminary of Christ the King in East Aurora, N.Y.

In 1959 he was ordained a priest of the Diocese of Raleigh, N.C. He became a priest of the Charlotte Diocese when North Carolina was divided into two dioceses less than a year before he was made a bishop.

He was a pastor in Asheville, N.C., and diocesan liturgy commission chairman, home mission director and Society for the Propagation of the Faith director when he learned he was to be named an auxiliary bishop of Natchez-Jackson on Nov. 14, 1972. He was ordained to the episcopacy on Jan. 28, 1973.

When he was installed as bishop of the newly created Diocese of Biloxi on June 6, 1977, he was the first black bishop in the 20th century to head a diocese.

At the time the only African-American in the U.S. hierarchy was Auxiliary Bishop Harold R. Perry of New Orleans, who died in 1991.

The only other black bishop in U.S. Catholic history had been Bishop James A.

Healy, Georgia-born son of an Irish immigrant father and a slave mother who headed the Diocese of Portland, Maine from 1875 to 1900.

With Bishop Howze's resignation, Bishop J. Terry Steib of Memphis, Tenn., becomes the ranking black Catholic bishop active in the United States. Five other African-American bishops currently head dioceses and five more serve as auxiliary bishops.

In his nearly 24 years as bishop of Biloxi, a diocese that covers the southern third of Mississippi, the Catholic population grew from about 50,000 to nearly 68,000 in a total population of more than 737,000.

Ice cream in Heaven?
Yes, taste the goodness

BY LYNDA LAIRD

What does ice cream have to do with God? I'm glad you asked that question.

When God wrote through his prophets the entire Holy Bible I don't think ice cream had been invented, and I'm very sure it wasn't on God's mind at all.

One little girl didn't know all these grown-up facts and just knew that God was good and ice cream was sweet and good, too. This led to the thought that there would be ice cream in Heaven.

All my life I have been an ice-cream lover. I sometimes still catch myself saying, "I know there's ice cream in heaven, because ice cream is so good." I've gotten many sideways glances and odd looks from clergy for that one. Nevertheless the Father knows what I mean.

I suppose this affinity for ice cream led me to think of the analogy of churches to ice cream parlors. Just follow me here and see what I see.

I know there are many good churches. I wish that they were all full every time their doors opened. What a good world this would be if that were true.

God sometimes uses the familiar to make a point, don't you think? He and I have a point to make about that "Other Church," you know the one which is sometimes referred to as "That Church."

Because I've searched the world over for good ice cream and for what's real of God I have a little good advice for both the searcher and the ice cream connoisseur. All ice cream is cold, but only real ice cream is good for you. The one made with pure ingredients, nothing added, nothing taken away no matter what the flavor, they are good.

The pure word of God is like that. It doesn't matter where or when or what kind of dish it's served in, it always tastes good and is good for you.

Times are a changing; the evident and obvious truth is that some who think there'll always be time to taste it later won't get their chance.

Sad but true, believe it or not, one day soon it will be too late to taste and see that the Lord is good. This makes all the real ice cream lovers sad.

I once knew a precious little boy named Bobby. I asked him,

"Bobby, what is your favorite kind of ice cream?" He thought for a moment and with a puzzled look on his face said, "Ice cream - ice cream - all ice cream is good."

He was a real ice cream connoisseur. Whenever his family had ice cream had some too, and this is how he knew. His parents also had taken him to church; they were lovers of God's word. He learned that Jesus is sweet and better than ice cream.

Now the object in some ice cream shops is to get as many as possible to agree with their flavors. They teach you that if you taste another flavor you are not an ice cream connoisseur at all. Nonsense!

Whether served in fancy crystal goblets or in disposable bowls, it's the ice cream that really counts. If topped with chocolate or caramel or cordials it makes no difference.

These are the dressings and flavors, but the ice cream is unchanged if it's according to the real recipe to start with.

There is a point and a moral to my story. Take note from the distant perspective of a long time ice cream connoisseur. The pure word of God never makes anyone sick. It is the added man-made ingredients and artificial flavors that cause us the problems.

Isn't it wonderful that our freedom and liberty allows us to choose for ourselves what flavor and whether to partake or not? Still, we who believe and have learned to love want everyone to know that God is good, yes, much better than anything we could imagine or invent. It's good to share and know that we can taste and not be afraid or ashamed.

I am speaking from my heart now and my lifelong observations. To love others is the key. It is so simple. We all claim to do it, but do we really?

There are not many wise or noble chosen to salvation because God has chosen the foolish things of this world to confound the wise. Check the recipe to see if that's really true.

I found a really expensive one; it's my favorite. It cost me all I had, but the barrel never gets empty and the flavors are endlessly delicious. It's always fresh.

Sometimes I find it on the table without even asking. The recipe writer just seems to know what I needed. I see him smiling at my hearty appetite. "Taste and see that the Lord is Good."

The "Word" for the Week
Corporate commitment

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Individualism pervades Christianity. It has to do with how we commonly approach faith in God through Jesus Christ. Faith, we say, is personal not public. We therefore emphasize what we can do and what we must do as individuals.

We emphasize personal commitment, personal devotions, and personal relationships with Christ. Christians getting their spiritual food via e-mail and web sites sitting by themselves before a computer accentuates this individualism.

The picture of heaven in the Bible is very different than that of individuals scattered about enjoying eternal bliss. "Then I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders; and the number of them was myriads of myriads, and thousands of thousands..."

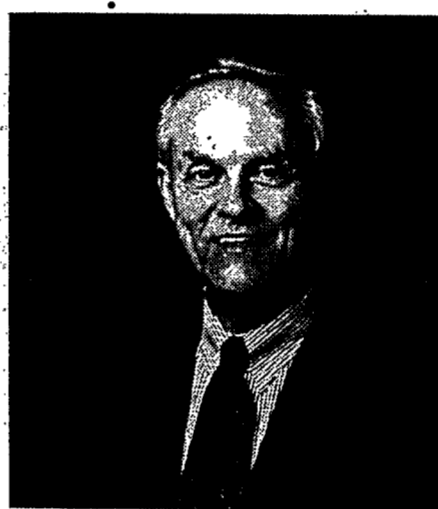

And every created thing which is in heaven and on the earth and under the earth and on the sea, and all things in them, I heard saying, "To Him who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb, be blessing and honor and glory and dominion forever and ever" (Revelation 5:11 & 13).

Here is the greatest choir ever assembled. All of heaven, gathered around the throne, rejoices in God and in Jesus Christ. Personal commitment to God through Christ leads us to this consummate corporate scene. In the interim, personal faith leads us into a commitment to the corporate body, the church, still in this world.

Leon Bedsole

First Baptist has special
Monday night service

On Monday, July 2, First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis, will have the second of its special Monday night services beginning at 7 p.m.

Dr. Anthony Kay, former interim pastor, will present the message, and Leon Bedsole, minister of music at First Baptist Church of Biloxi, will provide the music.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge. There will not be a Sunday night service during the month of July.

Community Baptist to host Bible school

Community Baptist Church at the corner of Edwin Ladner Road and Kiln-DeLisle Road in Pass Christian will hold its first annual Vacation bible school July 16-20, 9 a.m.-noon for 4- to 5-year-olds and children grade one through six.

Pre-registration will be at the church Saturday, July 14, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Refreshments are available.

Alzheimers support group

The Alzheimers Caregivers Support Group meets at NorthShore Regional Medical Center on the first Saturday of every month at 10 a.m. The meetings are located in the Gardenia Room at the Women's Center.

Help and support for caregivers are the focus of these meetings. A video dealing with patient care problems is shown followed by a discussion of specific problems within the group. Short- and long-term planning will be updated and addressed and care issues will be discussed.

Mr. Welch, group facilitator, is a retired engineer and 10-year caregiver for his wife. He cared for his wife 8 1/2 years at home and is now caring for her in a facility. Ms. Rand-Hardy, co-facilitator, has an extensive background and education in teaching and counseling.

All who are caregivers or who have loved ones in any stage of Alzheimers Disease are welcomed into the group. The meeting is associated with the Aldergate Angels Program and the Alzheimers Association of Greater New Orleans.

For more information, call Jim Welch at 504-871-1023 or Genie May of the Angels Program at 504-641-5843.

Coast Performing Arts begins new season

Coast Performing Arts has announced its 2001-2002 Debut Season, to include opera, ballet, musical theater and choral music in the organization's first full season of events.

Opening the season will be Il Barbiere di Siviglia, one of the most recognizable operas of all time, on Saturday, Sept. 29 at 8 p.m. at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi, produced in collaboration with Jefferson Performing Arts Society.

Preceding the opera will be a gala evening aboard the Starship Dining Yacht Sunday, Sept. 23, featuring a presentation by opera expert and PRM Programming Director William Fulton of Jackson; a Meet-the-Maestro session with Maestro Dennis Assaf, flamenco dancers and silent auction, in addition to the Starship's own dance band, food and cash bar.

Tickets are $75 and are not included in the season ticket price.

Then on Sunday, Jan. 20, the Broadway classic Annie, Get Your Gun will come to Biloxi with a 3 p.m. showing, featuring a professional cast and full orchestra.

Friday, April 19, at the Saenger the group presents the acclaimed Ballet Hyselle in the classical ballet Giselle at 8 p.m. A special youth performance will take place on the morning of the event, also at the Saenger, and area schools will be invited to bring their students.

Finally, the Candlelight Series, featuring rising musical stars from all over the country will close the season at First United Methodist Church of Gulfport at 8 p.m., preceded by a dinner at the Great Southern Club.

Season tickets are priced at $90, $70, and $50, with student tickets available for $30 in the balcony. Tickets may be charged to VISA or Mastercard and are available by calling Coast Performing Arts at 452-7744 or toll-free 877-246-7372 (877-24OPERA).

Coast Performing Arts began its operations in the fall of 2000, having been formed to provide first-quality professional arts productions for Coast audiences.

Their first production, La Traviata, in February 2001 attracted a large, enthusiastic audience, and according to board chairman John W. Campbell, III, "We expect to grow tremendously this season. La Traviata was proof positive that Coast audiences are ready and willing to support productions of this calibre."

Live Oak Writing Project Fellows named

The USM Live Oak Writing Project, an affiliate of the National Writing Project, has recently awarded fellowships for its first five-week Summer Institute. Based on the philosophy of "teachers teaching teachers," participants engage in thought-provoking strategies to foster best-practice classroom instruction. The group will travel to the French Quarter in New Orleans to participate in Marathon Writing with the Southeastern Louisiana Writing Project. They will also engage in other activities and events scheduled throughout the Institute. From left, Mary Kay Deen, co-director; Dr. Elaine White, director; Sandra Smith (HCSD), Von Biggs (BWSO), Jean Cuevas (HCSD), Ashley Griffin (BWSO), and Kelly Schwartz (HCSD). Not pictured is Frances Weller, co-director. For information, contact White at 865-4500.

Lynn Meadows Discovery Center events

In July, the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center in Gulfport celebrates summer fun.

On Friday, July 6 at 1:30 and 2:30 p.m., children's ventriloquist Pam Fitzgibbon and her puppet friends share stories and songs.

David Butler from Butler's Pets demonstrates the setup and design of aquariums on Saturday, July 7, 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

In the Artist Studio, design a flag that reflects our environment like the Fante people of Ghana, West Africa. Ongoing sessions.

Staff from the Gulf Islands National Seashore share some of the secrets of the wildlife on the islands on Saturday, July 14 at 11 a.m.

In the Artist Studio, make textures prints using feathers, leaves, corks, strings and other common things. Ongoing sessions.

On Saturday, July 21, out-of-this-world puppets land for a wild and wacky show from the Jackson-George County Library at 2 p.m.

In the Artist Studio, turn the first letter of your name into an animal that begins with the same. Ongoing Sessions.

Performances of "Dragon Dreams," WINGS Performing Arts Summer Production, are Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27 at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., on Saturday, July 28 at 7 p.m. and on Sunday, July 29 at 2 p.m.

The shows are at Bayou View

Jr. High Theatre in Gulfport. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children.

Get fit with children's yoga instructor Earline Nye on Saturday, July 28 at 2 p.m.

In the Artist Studio, use colored pencils to make bright, bold Aborigine postcard art. Ongoing sessions.

Join the Bear Cub Club every Wednesday at 10 and 11 p.m. Children five and under sing songs that tell stories like Puff the Magic Dragon, Winnie the Pooh, Mr. Tickle and more.

These activities are free, unless otherwise noted, with membership or admission.

For information, call 228-897-6039.

Mississippi Crafts Fair at the Museum of Art

The 4th annual Mississippi Crafts Fair, a joint venture between the Mississippi Museum of Art and the Craftsmen's Guild of Mississippi, Inc., will be Saturday, July 7, from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. at the Mississippi Museum of Art, 201 East Pascagoula Street in downtown Jackson.

The Mississippi Crafts Fair will feature workshops, demonstrations and fine crafts for sale by more than 40 members of the Craftsmen's Guild of Mississippi, Inc. Exhibiting craftsmen will have booths set up throughout the entire Mississippi Arts Center, including in the Upper and Lower Atrium Galleries of the Mississippi Museum of Art in the Large Rehearsal Hall and in the Art Studios. Admission to the Mississippi Crafts Fair is $5 per person. Children 12 and under will be admitted free. Price includes admission to all current Mississippi Museum of Art exhibitions. Morning and afternoon workshops will be conducted by several participating craftsmen, including Jerry and Paula Hymel of Raymond, who will lead a session in stained glass.

Workshops are limited to 10 participants, and there is a small fee to cover the cost of materials. Boxed lunches will be available for purchase at the Mississippi Museum of Art during the Mississippi Crafts Fair. The Museum Store will be open. For information, call the Mississippi Museum of Art at 601-960-1515.

CHOOSE YOUR KIT SKILL LEVEL!

- L1 Simple: Calls for a few basic tools—a soldering iron, cutters, pliers, wire-strippers and a small screwdriver. Doesn't require test equipment for final adjustment or tuning.
- L2 Moderate: Requires some test gear—usually a basic multimeter for some final adjustment or tuning.
- L3 Intermediate: Requires more involved construction; you may use some test gear for final adjustment or tuning.
- L4 Difficult: Requires a more intricate level of construction and may need more advanced test gear for final adjustment or tuning.
- L5 Advanced: Involves complex wiring and construction and may call for advanced test gear, like an oscilloscope.

How Solar Works

Photovoltaics (PV) is the direct conversion of sunlight into electrical current, a process known for many years. With the development of the modern silicon solar cell, light particles which penetrate the cell cause electron activity resulting in the flow of electric current through a circuit. Current created by sunlight moves through a series of cells, called modules, to a battery where it is stored. Linked together, the modules and battery form a PV system designed to produce 12 or 24 volts of direct current (DC).

Through the use of an inverter, the direct current is turned into alternating current (AC), the standard home current with which we're all familiar. Any number of PV modules can be connected in an array to supply your present load requirements. Once installed, the modules are maintenance-free. Solar power enables you to run your appliances, power equipment, or machinery just as you would normally, no matter how remote your location. Now ICP Global Technologies offers the safe, dependable power of a PV system as a cost-effective alternative.
